

A line drawing of a metal bracket. It has a vertical section with two circular holes, one near the top and one near the bottom. A horizontal section extends from the middle of the vertical section, ending in a curved, hook-like shape.